

Margaret Bolt

Advertiser & Appeal; Vol. 3, No. 5; Wednesday 25 July 1877; pg. 3, col. 2

We are pained to chronicle the death of Mrs. T.W. Bolt. She has been suffering from consumption for some time past, and on Friday night last bid adieu to earth and sought her new home "over there," where her good mother awaits her approach, having only "gone before." She leaves a husband, son, and little daughter to mourn her loss. May they have grace to bear the affliction.
