

Bertha Borchardt

The Macon Telegraph; Saturday 10 April 1920; pg. 3 col. 2

MISS BERTHA BORCHARDT

BRUNSWICK, April 9. -- The funeral of Miss Bertha Borchardt, who died suddenly at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. Lilenthal, took place yesterday afternoon, and was attended by an unusually large number of friends of this well known and popular young woman.

Miss Borchardt had not been in the best of health recently, having just recovered from an operation. However she was on the road to recovery and had been out among her friends. Wednesday morning she arose as usual and was in her room when attacked with what physicians announced to be heart failure. Her sister hearing her fall across the bed rushed into the room and, seeing that she was ill, summoned assistance, but the unfortunate young woman died in a very few minutes. Miss Borchardt has been a resident of Brunswick all of her life and was loved by all who knew her. She is survived by two sisters, B. Borchardt, R. Borchardt and Joseph Borchardt, of this city, and S. Borchardt of Tampa.