JUDGE CLAUDE DART, AN AGED RESIDENT, DIES HERE TODAY

Judge Claude Dart, at 90 years of age probably Brunswick's oldest native resident, died at 11 o'clock this morning at the Laura Bell Nursing Home, where he had been for some time. Previous to going to the home, he had been ill at his home, 1710 Wilson Avenue, for many months.

Judge Dart was born in Brunswick in the house in which he resided up to the time he was removed to the nursing home. He was a member of one of Brunswick's oldest and best known families. He observed his ninetieth birthday last February, when a large number of friends called to pay their respects.

Judge Dart served for a number of years as justice of the peace and he had occupied many other offices during his long residence in Brunswick, and he had many friends who will be grieved to learn of his death.

Survivors include his wife, who is reported quite ill at the nursing home where Judge Dart died; three children, Mrs. Jesse Dart Henderson, of this city; Horace Dart, Jacksonville, Fla., and Lindwood Dart, Tallahassee, Fla. [sic], a brother, Judge Edwin W. Dart, this city, and five grandchildren.

Judge Dart had been a lifelong member of the local Presbyterian Church and had served in various capacities in that church.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed early this afternoon and will be announced later.
