

Annie Holland

Advertiser & Appeal; Vol. 2, No. 26; Wednesday 20 December 1876; pg. 1, col. 2

We are pained to record the death of little Annie, (four years old) daughter of Mr. Marshal B. Holland of our city. About ten days since she was in the kitchen with a servant. The latter went out for some purpose, when the little one took fire, in some way, from the stove. She screamed for help, and rushed upstairs, where she was met by her mother, who threw something around her and put out the flames, but alas! too late. After lingering three days, she died. The stricken parents have our deepest sympathy.
