

Carrie Rothschild

The Brunswick News; Thursday 12 December 1929; pg. 8 col. 1

MRS. ABE ROTHSCHILD DIES SUDDENLY TODAY--PROMINENT WOMAN PASSES AWAY AT HER SEA ISLAND BEACH HOME

Mrs. Abe Rothschild died suddenly at her home on Sea Island Beach shortly after noon today. The announcement of the death of this well known and estimable Brunswick woman came as a profound shock to her friends and the people of the city generally.

It was known that Mrs. Rothschild had been confined to her home for two weeks suffering with what was said to be a general toxin condition, but it was not apprehended that her illness was of a critical nature and the news of her death was most astounding. In fact it was reported early today that Mrs. Rothschild's condition was improved, and with this information given to him Mr. Rothschild had left the city on an important business trip to Jacksonville, expecting to return early tonight. Efforts were made to intercept him but they did not succeed.

Mrs. Rothschild who was formerly Miss Carrie Reiman, of Greenwood, Miss., was married to Mr. Rothschild some thirty-five years ago; they came immediately to Brunswick to reside and have lived here since that time. She was a woman of many social graces, charitable, broad-minded, a consistent worker in the sisterhood of Beth Tefliloh[?] and had a leading place in the social and civic circles of the community.

Up to the time of her illness some two weeks ago, Mrs. Rothschild had enjoyed her usually good health. She and Mr. Rothschild had only recently moved into their new home at Sea Island Beach, in which she evinced a lively interest and entertained many of her friends. Only a few weeks ago on the occasion of the meeting of the council of the Southeastern Woman's Club at the Cloister, Mrs. Rothschild occupied a leading place in the entertainment of many of the visitors. The truth of the matter is Mrs. Rothschild was never happier than when entertaining her friends and they were legend and devoted to her for those charms that endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. She was fond of young people, loved to have them about her and they in turn always esteemed it a privilege to be entertained in her home.

Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by her mother, Mrs. Rachel Reiman, who, because of advanced years, being 82, is herself confined to her home in Greenwood. There are two sisters, Misses Flora and Esther Reiman, also of Greenwood, and a nephew, Herman Borchardt, of this city, and a niece, Mrs. Carol Bertanger, of Dayton, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon, awaiting the arrival of Mr. Rothschild, who will reach the city later this afternoon. The members of the family have the sincere sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

Published: 12/12/1929