

Thomas Smith

The Darien Timber Gazette; Friday 29 September 1876; pg. 3 col. 5

We regret to announce the death of Thomas F. Smith, the Editor of the Brunswick Appeal. Our patrons may not fell [sic] this loss as we do. They cannot, there and under him we learned our trade as a printer. Brunswick must mourn heavily under this loss for she had no better friends than T.F. Smith; always her staunch and honest friend in the common ups and downs of life and in this her sore great trial, like a man, as he was, he remained at his post. Human sympathy avails but little when God lays his hand on us, but that little and in all its feelings we give to the bereaved wife and dear little children.
